COMMUNICATION METHOD USING CUSTOMISABLE BANNERS

Abstract of the Disclosure

A banner management method is provided which operates on a browser user interface on terminals in a network of terminals. The method comprising the steps of: (1) initialising a command file with inputs from a system administrator of the network, including providing an interface by which the system administrator can customize banners displayed on each browser interface, and (2) executing the command file, thus displaying banners as ordered by the command file.